

Community Outreach Information Booth/Display Request

It is the aim of epilepsy community agencies coast to coast to empower Canadians to understand epilepsy and to take a lead in making their community a more accessible and accepting place to live. Eventually, this will translate into open doors, and meaningful support.

By uniting our efforts locally, we ensure that more than 12,000 people living with epilepsy in Durham Region are better able to participate in all life experiences; promote independence, quality of life, full community participation, and improve how people with epilepsy are perceived, accepted and valued in society
